The Rebels Under General Mendoza Had Him Surrounded Once.

IS STILL IN DANGER

Rebel Army Only Retreated Because He Was in Excellent Position.

THE END IS NOT YET

(Special By Scripps-McRae.)
Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—According to dispatches received from Minister Bowen, American representative to Venezuela, this morning, Pres. Castro, of that country did not win the great victory that he credited himself with on Saturday last.

Merely Retreated
It appears now that General Mendoza of the revolutionary army had President Castro surrounded and simply withdrew after he found his position impregnable and retired in good order to his camp some distance away.

Castro in Tight Place
From all accounts General Castro is in a tight place, and instead of being victorious is in a bad pickle, having been cornered by the revolutionary army with great ease.

ARMY LIFE IS PLEASING TO BOYS

Two Janesville Recruits Write of the Enjoyable Quarters at Fort Myer.

George W. Malone, one of the Valentine School of Telegraphy students, who was enlisted into the Signal Service of the United States army from Janesville, has written to Private Blake, expressing his liking of his new occupation. The letter was dated at Fort Myer, Virginia, U. S. Signal Corps post, where he is now located, having been assigned to duty there immediately after his enlistment.

Near Washington
His present post is directly across the Potomac river from Washington. He is allowed passage to that city, any night after four o'clock, and can secure a special pass if he desires to go before that hour. Mr. Reeves, who enlisted from this city with him, is situated in the same place as his fellow telegrapher. Malone also speaks highly of the quarters in which he lives and of the ratings.

Likes Position
Mr. Malone takes a shot in his epistle at the students in the school with him in this city, who told him that he was acting unwisely in entering the army. Contrary to their words the two are thoroughly satisfied with their position, and find that the signal corps in their estimation, is the best branch of the service. Some of the men who have been in the army for only eight months are drawing the pay of sergeants and corporals. When Malone and Reeves finish their term of enlistment on September 29, 1905, they will have saved some money, and have a good profession to fall back upon if they do not care to re-enlist.

Advices Others
Mr. Malone advises anyone who has the necessary qualifications and desires to see the world to do as he has done. He believes the experience will be valuable as well as pleasant, and that the three years of enlistment will not prove misspent. At any rate he is satisfied where he is.

Advantages of an Amerer.
The Amerer of Afghanistan recently selected six husbands for his six daughters and married them all off in a batch, but whether he did this for social effect or for economical reasons does not appear. An Amerer of Afghanistan can do many things, however, which a mere ordinary father could not find it possible to do.

IN SESSION FOR DELIBERATION; MITCHELL'S PLEA TO DELEGATES

Tells Them That They Owe a Debt of Gratitude to the Working Men, the Public, and the Friendly Press of the Country—Urges Them to Accept the Operators' Offer.

Wilkesbarre, Oct. 20.—Delegates to the number of seven hundred representing the miners in the anthracite district met in convention here this morning. They will organize today and hear President Mitchell's recommendations as to the ending of the coal strike and will pass a final decision tomorrow morning. The convention was called to order at ten thirty this morning and was adjourned until two to give the committee on credentials time to act.

SOME OPPOSITION IS KNOWN
Some opposition to the plan of accepting the operators' plans is known to exist, but it is expected that when Mitchell offers his plan and advises that the miners give in there will be no opposition to his movement that all miners return to work at once and leave their differences to be settled by the commission. Here and there are objections to certain features of the operators' proposition but no bitterness exists. It is generally thought that Mitchell will dominate the action.

MITCHELL'S SPEECH TO DELEGATES
"No battle was more bravely fought than the contest which I now earnestly hope is about to be happily ended. For five months the eyes of the nation have been centered upon us and our battle and the hearts of the American people have throbbed in sympathy with us. It is of course with deep regret that millions of underpaid workmen in our cities should be the most acute sufferers by reason of this contest between ourselves and our employers. But strange as it may seem hundreds upon hundreds of those who suffered most from lack of fuel sent words of encouragement and commendation and in many instances declared they would endure privation in order that the miners and their families might secure sufficient wages to enable them to enjoy a little happiness. Instead of gloom and sadness, which has been their lot for many years."

A DEBT OF GRATITUDE
"A debt of gratitude we owe to our fellow workers. The generous public and friendly press can never be adequately repaid. For our opponents we entertain no feeling of malice. We should hold out to them the hand of friendship and ask them to join us in providing for such business relations as shall for all time establish peace and tranquility in the coal fields."

HIS PERSONAL OPINION
"The day is past when great organizations of capital can maintain a false position that their employees shall be denied the right to organize. Grave questions which you have been called upon to consider today demand and must have most careful thought. Personally I should have preferred adjustment of the strike by a conference with the operators and without the intervention of agencies not directly involved, but I recognize the fact that the relations between ourselves and the operators had become so strained as to render direct negotiations impossible. The proposition submitted for your consideration may have objectionable features, but I am firm in the belief that a prompt acceptance will secure to anthracite mine workers a greater measure of justice than could be obtained by continuing the conflict and a greater degree of justice than they have enjoyed in the past. With all the earnestness of which I am in possession I urge you to give your approval to the action of your executive officers who have recommended the acceptance of the proposition that the strike be declared off and that all men return to work and all questions at issue be submitted for adjustment to a tribunal selected by the President of the United States."

NARROWLY ESCAPE A BAD COLLISION

Excursion Party to Washington Willing To Tell the Story Now They Are Safely Home.

Sunday noon the last of the Janesville excursionists to the national G. A. R. encampment at Washington returned home. This last party included Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Noyes, of the town of Rock, Miss Bertha Vanderlyn, of Clinton, and Miss Dora Randall, of this city. Misses Gertrude Cobb, Ida Harris and Zella Harris arrived home Saturday evening and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bear and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Blakely were among the late arrivals home.

Members of the Janesville party report a glorious time, especially on the trip to Washington when the party was altogether in one special car. There were twenty-six people in the party and twenty of them were from this city. The entire trip was one continual round of pleasure. It was a congenial crowd and every one had a jolly time.

Collision Averted
There were some thrilling experiences also and few of their relatives and friends were permitted to know how narrowly they escaped a disastrous collision near Cincinnati on the way to Washington. The two engines stopped with their pilots almost touching and the crash had seemed so imminent that the engineers and firemen on both engines jumped.

This was the only unpleasant experience, however, and the party knew nothing of it for some time after it occurred. Then it was kept very quiet. The train was two hours late in Washington. Fourteen members of the Janesville crowd roomed in the same private house in Washington, making a very pleasant house party. Those who enjoyed the trip together have a fund of reminiscences which will animate their conversation whenever they meet for some time to come.

Swamp Land Claims MAY NET THOUSANDS
State of Illinois Likely to Recover Large Sums From the Federal Government.

Carbondale, Ill., Oct. 20.—Settlements are being made as rapidly as proper proof can be made of several large tracts of swampy land in southern Illinois which have been in litigation for half a century. In 1850 congress passed an act giving all swamp lands to the state for school and other purposes, and afterward some of these same lands were sold by the government to private parties under the homestead act.

There is quite a number of such tracts all over southern Illinois and the state's claims against the government have been worked up by Isaac R. Hitt. If the claim in each case is allowed by the department the state recovers $1.25 an acre. F. B. DeFreese, special agent of the interior department, has been in the section for several weeks and has settled several of the claims, which in many instances include most valuable farming lands which have been occupied for many years by actual settlers.

ARE URGED TO BE GOOD SOLDIERS

REV. R. M. VAUGHAN PREACHES AN ABLE SERMON.

FIRST OF CHILDREN'S SERIES

Sermon Designed Especially for Children of the Baptist Go-To-Church Band.

At the Baptist church Sunday morning, Rev. Richard M. Vaughan preached the first of a series of seven sermons which are designed especially for the children of the Go-to-church band. These sermons are scattered through the church year, no previous notice being given, and the children are to be present to hear the entire series become members of the Go-to-church band and receive a present. A picnic is also given them by the pastor every summer.

For his first sermon to the little people Rev. Vaughan chose the subject "A Good Soldier" and while it was especially simple and direct in its style so that it appealed to the understanding of the children, the thoughts contained were fully as helpful to the adults who listened with the greatest interest.

Be Soldiers
The text was taken from the second chapter of Second Timothy, the third verse, "Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." The able sermon which followed was replete with entertaining anecdotes which served as apt illustrations. The incident with which the sermon was introduced concerned William Tecumseh Sherman who, when asked for his definition of a soldier said: "A soldier is a man who loves peace so well that he is willing to fight for it."

No Peace With Wrong
There can be no peace where there is a wrong upright. Peace and wrong cannot dwell together. Wrong is like a splinter in the hand. It does not belong there and if the splinter is permitted to remain, the hand becomes sensitive and inflamed and perhaps blood poisoning sets in and the life is lost. Wrong festers in the soul and in society and it is necessary that it should be removed if the soul and society is to be healthy. Sometimes a surgeon's knife is necessary to remove the splinter and sometimes wrong is so deeply imbedded in greed that nothing but the deep sword of a soldier can remove it.

The True Soldier
The true soldier does not like war but he must sometimes fight for peace. So long as the wrong of slavery was permitted to exist there could not be national peace and health. Compromises were tried in vain. Theoretically slavery might have been removed in America as it was in Great Britain, peacefully. Practically it was so entrenched that nothing but the sword could avail it. When President McKinley returned to Washington after his tour of the country and was asked what impressed him the most his reply was the unity of the people from sea to sea, loyal to one flag.

Paul had the heart of a soldier. He was a man of action. Although slight of stature, he was the stuff of which good soldiers are made. He had the opportunity of seeing some of the best soldiers. Up to that time, in discipline, obedience and effectiveness the Roman soldier has never been equalled. So Paul told Timothy to endure hardship as a soldier of Jesus Christ.

Stern Warfare
There is a warfare other than that carried on by cannons and repeating guns. There are soldiers other than those engaged in political wars. What of the wrongs that war in the heart? He is a true soldier who conquers himself. What of the wrongs outside, drunkenness, the taking and giving of bribes, legislative corruption? Must not war be waged against them? Evil always wants to be let alone and resents the criticism of the church. Christians cannot leave evil alone when it fattens on the lives of the people. They must be soldiers.

A Soldier's Life
There are three things which make up a soldier's life, enlistment, obedience and reward. If one is to be a soldier he must start, he must enlist. People enlist as soldiers of Jesus Christ when they believe in him and begin to follow him. The regular way for the soldier to enlist is to go to the recruiting station, be measured, examined and receive his uniform. But that is not always the way. Sometimes men enlist in a very informal way. When Paul Revere made his historical ride, the farmers didn't wait for formality. It doesn't matter how the soldier enlists so long as he enlists and it doesn't matter how a man starts to be a Christian if he only starts.

Volunteers Wanted
God wants volunteers. In ancient times men were forced into the army. Persia had its whipmasters and in continental Europe today every able bodied man must serve in the army. In Great Britain and America there is not a man fighting under the flag who is not a volunteer. Toward the end of the civil war, drafting was resorted to, but history proves that drafted men are not the best soldiers. Governments are depending more and more on the volunteers and on love of country. Volunteers make the best soldiers. There isn't one in Christ's army who isn't a volunteer.

Duty To Obey
The one thing which a soldier must do day in and day out is to obey his superior officer. There is no honorable alternative. He may disobey but punishment will follow. The good soldier obeys. Christ wants bad soldiers to become good ones, perfectly obedient to the Lord. It is only by obedience that unity of action can be secured. If every soldier did as he believed that there would be a mob instead of an army. Obedience explains why again and again a company of well drilled soldiers has proved effective against a mob.

Rely on Orders
The general has his plan of campaign. The soldier doesn't always understand it but it is his business to obey, even though mistaken orders sometimes result in disaster. The Christian soldier's orders are always right and if he follows them he is sure to win. The secret of the ability to command lies in obedience. Before one can command others he must learn to obey; before he control other men he must control himself; before he can conquer others he must conquer himself. Jesus Christ himself was subject to this law, his obedience to earthly parents and to death being required of him.

Reward Is Sure
The true soldier always receives his reward. In the first place the soldier in the army gets his living out of it. If a man enlists and obeys, the government takes care of him and his family. He does not go to war at his own expense. If he is wounded he receives a pension in this country. No country ever treated its soldiers with a tithe of the generosity which America has shown. It is surpassed only by the generosity of the Kingdom of God.

Promises Of Reward
The Bible is filled with promises of reward to those who do right and serve God. The simple privilege of serving Jesus Christ is itself the soldier's greatest reward. But there is more beyond. He may look forward to the crown of righteousness in the hereafter. Labor, perils and weariness, now; honor and glory, then. The highest honor that can be paid a soldier in a nation's army is slight in comparison with the reward which is given the true soldier of Jesus Christ.

Inspiring Melody
Splendid music added to the inspiration of the service. Miss Caldwell presided at the organ and two anthems, "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes," by Buck, and "Gently, Lord, O Gently Lead Us," by Nevin, were beautifully sung by a quartet, consisting of Miss Cora Anderson, Miss Elizabeth Palmer, E. E. Van Pool and J. S. Taylor.

KNIGHTS OF GRIP HAVE JOLLY TIME

Janesville Council No. 108 U. C. T Celebrates Its Prosperity and Begins Social Season.

Among the members of no other organization is there quite the same feeling of cordial friendliness and fraternal good cheer as exists between the United Commercial Travelers and that is why their greetings are always characterized by a peculiar pleasure which makes them so enjoyably successful.

Every winter Janesville Council, No. 108 U. C. T. holds monthly banquets and socials which are always anticipated with pleasure by the Knights of the Grip and their families. On last Saturday evening the first of these socials for the coming winter was held at East Side Odd Fellows' hall and it was a very happy occasion.

First Of Year
In addition to its being the first social of the season, the gathering was one of unusual interest because it celebrated a point in the prosperity of the local council where the number of the council and the number of its membership is the same, 108. Unique posters referring to this fact decorated the lodge hall where the social was held and the dining hall where the banquet was served.

An Appetizing Spread
The banquet, which was prettily served at small tables decorated with flowers, was one of unusual excellence and much praise was bestowed on the committee which had it in charge. Tails committee, which included Messrs. and Mesdames F. F. Nicholson, W. E. Clinton and C. B. Evans, also waited on the tables and the service was faultless.

Cards and Sociability
The supper was followed by the usual enjoyable social evening, many of the guests finding pleasure at card tables. At a seasonable hour good-nights were said and the members of the party are now looking forward to the next social gathering.

ROYAL LEAGUE IN SPECIAL SESSION

Members of the Supreme and Advisory Councils Were Entertained Saturday Evening.

Omega Council No. 214 Royal League entertained eleven members of the supreme and advisory councils at a special meeting held in their lodge room in I. O. G. T. hall, Saturday evening. Several members of the Racine and Beloit councils were also present. Harry McEvoy, of Chicago, representing the supreme council was among the guests.

At the close of the regular lodge business the advisory degree team from Milwaukee exemplified the work, using thirty stereopticon views. Excellent talks by the visitors followed and there were several good vocal selections by a male quartet consisting of Robert O. Roberts, Alex. Ducrest, Clarence Johnson and Charles A. Bargarward, of Beloit. The meeting was followed by an appetizing supper served at Con McDonald's restaurant.

We sat at the table together. She cast a shy glance over at me. She certainly looked like an angel. Oh, Charley! Please order me Rocky Mountain Tea. Smith's Pharmacy.

The matter of cut price sales by the retailer at the end of a season gives to the customer an idea that the business man is not doing what he should to protect his own interests. A legitimate pushing of his goods in the early season would often prevent the necessity of the cut price later and enable the man to avoid absolute loss.—Ad Art.

Friends of Milwaukee-Downer college are now making plans for endowing a chair of household economy.

IS MILTON JUNCT. A VERY BADTOWN?

REV. C. M. STARKWEATHER CLAIMS MUCH DEPRIVITY EXISTS.

STARTS A WAVE OF REFORM

Preaches from the Pulpit and Urges Reforms Be Enacted at Once.

(Special To The Gazette.)
Milton Junction is having a wave of reform. Reverend C. M. Starkweather has headed an investigating band of workers and openly from the pulpit makes claim that the little village of Milton Junction is full of wickedness. He has stirred the citizens of the burg into a frenzy of excitement and claims that he has evidence of licentiousness and lawlessness that he can produce.

Attacks Courts
Not content with simply remaining a crusader of the village he lives in, Rev. Starkweather claims that even the courts are corrupt and that when a person accused of committing a statutory offense of not strictly a criminal nature is brought into court he is absolved from guilt by a jury picked from men chosen by the aldermen and the court apologizes.

Visits Gambling Joint
Rev. C. M. Starkweather claims that a week ago that he visited a gambling joint in the rear of a shooting gallery and found men playing poker on a regulation gambling table with piles of chips before them; that the proprietor admitted that it was a professional table, but said that he had bought it cheap and that the men were only playing for fun and not for money.

Preaches From Pulpit
Following his investigation Mr. Starkweather, who is the Methodist minister, from the pulpit on a week ago Sunday called on all citizens to come to his aid in suppressing vice in the village. He told his experience and what he had seen and heard. Following this came a mass meeting on Wednesday night of last week. Resolutions were passed calling upon the Town Board of Milton to assist in putting down the evil and to prosecute all persons guilty.

The Other Side
The owner of the shooting gallery was present at both the church meeting and the mass meeting and claimed that while the table was at one time in a gambling joint he had bought it cheap and that no game for money had been played over it since it had been in his place. That he ran an orderly place and closed promptly at ten each night.

A Startling Accusation
At a meeting held last night at which were many local clergy and members of the recently formed society for the suppression of vice, Mr. Starkweather even went farther than he had before and proclaimed his sentiments about law and about the lawless actions of drunken men and women. Stories that had been told him of immodest dances by naked women before drunken men. He said in part:

The Talk
"I feel in this that I have done what I believe God would have me to do and it is a matter of considerable indifference to me what others may think. I did say a week ago that there was a gambling house in this city. Some of our most careful and prominent citizens told me without a doubt that there were gambling resorts in this place. I think that they and I were mistaken and I do not believe that there were any large sums of money expended there. I have had some shocking things related to me. Drunken men have compelled nude women to dance before them. The evil-doers have had it very comfortable here and I propose to make it uncomfortable for them. If a man is arrested for illegal selling of liquor and is convicted the case is invariably carried to the municipal court. The jurors of the municipal courts are appointed by the ward aldermen and in most cities are in favor of the defendant, and it is probably true of the court in Janesville."

George Ade's Opera A Record Breaker in the East.

Humorist George Ade's brilliant operatic satire, "The Sultan of Sulu," now on a brief western tour before its forthcoming New York engagement, is more than keeping up its reputation earned during the Chicago run of three months. In St. Louis, with the thermometer in the nineties, "The Sultan" played to over $11,000 on the week, closing to a record-breaking Saturday night house at the Olympia of $1,700. In Kansas City "The Sultan" began the week with a larger audience than that which attended on the dedication night of the new Willis Wood Theatre. Reports received at Manager Sange's New York office show that the Ade-Walthall musical satire played the first sixteen days of its season. In the few one night stands that will be played is said to be a question of capacity only. Both St. Louis and Kansas City critics declare "The Sultan" the best comic opera seen in years. Manager Savage has given Mr. Ade's opera a gorgeous production. The company numbers 50 people and is accompanied by the Castle Square Grand Opera Orchestra. In Janesville Oct. 25.

MANY MOURN DEATH OF MISS MERRILL

Former Resident of This City Passed Away at Her Home in Milwaukee.

Janesville friends are saddened by the news of the death of Miss Jane C. Merrill, which sad event occurred in Milwaukee after a brief illness with typhoid fever. Miss Merrill was the eldest daughter of Willard Merrill, vice president of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, and the family formerly resided in this city where they are lovingly remembered by many friends. The bereaved father and one daughter, Grace, are the only survivors of the family circle, Mrs. Merrill having died only a few months ago.

Miss Merrill was forty years old and had been ill only three weeks although she had not been strong for years. She was a graduate of Wellesley college and an active member of the Milwaukee branch of the Collegiate Alumnae association. She was also a prominent member of the Woman's club and was a woman of rare culture and refinement.

It is in the Young Women's Christian Association of Milwaukee that she will be missed most sadly for she was one of its most faithful workers. For the past ten years she had given the greater part of her time and strength to the association work. At the time of her death she was the chairman of the educational committee, a position she had held for two years. She was a member of the board of managers and was for two years secretary of the association. At the time of Miss Plankinton's gift she was a member of the building committee and later of the furnishing committee. She herself furnished a room in the new building.

Funeral services were held from the home Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and were largely attended. Rev. J. Beveridge Lee, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiated and the burial was at Forest Home.

PRETTY WEDDING OCCURRED SUNDAY

Miss Minnie Lawson and A. H. Beam Married at the Home of Archie Crawford.

There was a pretty home wedding at her residence of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Crawford, 105 South Jackson street, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when Miss Minnie E. Lawson, of Westfield, Wis., sister of the hostess, and A. H. Beam, of Okarche, Okla., were happily united in marriage by the Rev. W. W. Warner, pastor of the First M. E. church. The home was tastefully decorated for the occasion and the ceremony was witnessed by a small company of near relatives.

Miss Elva Crawford, niece of the bride, played the beautiful wedding march and a unique and pretty feature of the wedding was the selection of the bride attendants. Little Marcella and Charlie Noyes, niece and nephew of the bride, officiated as bridesmaid and best man, with all the grace and dignity of older people. The ceremony and congratulations were followed by an elegant wedding dinner. The bride, who is a sister of Mrs. Archie Crawford, Mrs. G. L. Noyes and S. G. Lawson, all of this city, is a daughter of the late Rev. Thomas Lawson. For twenty years she has resided at Westfield where her many estimable qualities have endeared her to a large circle of friends. She is also well known and highly esteemed in Janesville. The groom is a prosperous business man of Okarche, Okla., being engaged in the real estate and loan business. He was a boy corporal during the civil war and was on his way home from the recent G. A. R. encampment at Washington. He stopped at Janesville in order that the marriage might be celebrated and then proceeded to his business duties in his western home. Mrs. Beam will remain with relatives in this city for a few days and she will also visit in Iowa on her way to her new home in Okarche, Okla. She and her husband will have the best wishes and congratulations of many friends.

RICH GOLD MINES FOUND IN IDAHO

CAPITALISTS ARE COMING IN

Assays Are Said to Indicate Big Returns and Prospectors' Reports Are Rosy Enough to Enthuse the Most Confirmed Pessimist.

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 20.—During the past few months developments in Idaho county have been watched with interest. This season has proved that not only the Thunder mountain, but many other districts in that county are among the richest in the state. The Thunder Mountain district proper, which has developed such rich ore, extends several miles north of the Dewey mine, and still further south along the ridge between Monumental and Markle creeks, as far as Indian creek.

Water Is Plentiful.
It is cut by numerous creeks, that assist to show up the formation, and make it easy to trace, among the more important being Mule, Lava, Coney, Divide, Cornish, and Four Mile creeks, on all of which very promising properties are being developed. A few days ago E. J. Sencerbox brought in some very fine gold ore from the south fork of Monumental creek, which shows plentifully of free gold. The vein from which the specimens were taken is thirty feet wide. The ore is different from that usually found in the Thunder Mountain district, being quartz.

Major Fred R. Reed, who is operating the Liberal mine, on Little Smoky, reports that that part of Idaho is rapidly developing. He says that the belt has been explored for four miles, and that many very valuable mines have been discovered and will be developed rapidly. For that distance along the belt not a barren vein has been found or a barren place on any of the veins.

Rich Ore in Sight.
In the Williams claim 250 feet of development work has been done. The vein is twelve feet wide, and there is a streak of sulphide ore on the hanging wall that runs $30 a ton in gold. Similar ore is now found on the foot wall of the ledge, and the entire vein will mill $21 to the ton. The Williams claim is eight miles from the Liberal, and two miles further on is the Shamrock, which shows a large body of good ore on the surface. A tunnel is being run to open the vein at a depth of 110 feet. On the Liberal property the vein has been developed for a distance of 2,000 feet from the main workings. At that point the ledge is eight feet wide, and the ore fully as good as in the old works.

Carries Quicksilver.
During the summer J. R. and K. C. Chittwood discovered several ledges on Quartz creek, near Yellow Pine basin, in Idaho county. A short time ago an expert representing New York capital examined the properties and took a bond on two of them for $300,000. Another expert will make an examination in a few days, and if the mines are found as good as reported by the first report, a large cash payment will be made.

The claims are between three and four miles west of Profile creek, and are in what is generally known as Thunder Mountain district. One of the ledges carries ore in which pure quicksilver has been found. Another ledge that is from forty to fifty feet wide has shown some very high-grade ore. Some of it is covered with free gold.

Looks for Boom.
J. G. Green, who spent the summer developing mines on Big Creek, between Warren and Thunder Mountain, says that his district will be a great mining center when a little more development work is done. "We located six claims," he says, "and some of the veins are seventy-five feet wide. The ledges run north and south and are easily traced for long distances. They are quartz, with granite, quartzite and some porphyry forming the country rock. On the surface the veins have the appearance of being nothing more than 'bull' quartz, but as depth was obtained they turned into hard quartz, in which iron, galena, chlorides of silver, gold, and traces of copper were noticeable."

MASKED MEN HOLD UP STAGE

Three Highwaymen Get $200 From Travelers in Oregon.

North Yamhill, Ore., Oct. 20.—The Tillamook stage was held up by three masked men five miles from here. The robbers secured $200 from the passengers, and then escaped. The highwaymen compelled the passengers to get out of the stage, stand in line at the roadside, and hand over their valuables. The country is heavily timbered, and there is little probability of capturing the robbers.

Bridge Falls and Five Drown.
Constantinople, Oct. 20.—Fifteen persons were immersed and five of them drowned as a result of the collapse of the bridge over the Golden Horn, connecting Constantinople with the suburb of Galata.

Football Victim.
Hartford, Conn., Oct. 20.—Charles R. Gager, 17 years old, whose spleen was broken while he was playing football three weeks ago, died at St. Francis hospital.

VIOLATES IMMIGRATION LAWS

Assyrian Is Under Arrest at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Oct. 20.—Joseph Abodeely, a local Assyrian, was arrested for violation of the immigration laws. Abodeely is charged with attempting to smuggle into America an Assyrian woman, Alexandro Joseph, at Detroit recently. The alleged attempt was frustrated and Miss Joseph committed suicide by jumping from the train near Detroit. Abodeely claimed that Miss Joseph was his fiancée, but developments show that Abodeely was married to another woman at Dubuque six days before.

LOSES PART OF SCALP IN FIGHT

Serious Ending of Dispute Between Farmers Over Cordwood.

Eau Claire, Wis., Oct. 20.—Anton Thorpe and Oscar Straight, farmers, fought over the possession of a heap of cordwood. The battle was at first one of hot words, and then fists. Then Straight pulled a revolver and shot three times at Thorpe. He was too excited and unused to the weapon to do any damage. But Thorpe picked up a hoe, and with the blade cut off part of Straight's scalp. The injury is not necessarily serious, but very painful.

DISCOVER COUNTERFEIT BILL

Treasury Department Gives Warning of Bogus $10 Note.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The treasury department has detected a new counterfeit ten-dollar United States note of the series of 1901. This counterfeit is a lithographic reproduction of two pieces of paper, between which silk threads have been distributed. At first glance the note is deceptive, but it will not bear examination. The portraits of Clarke and Lewis and the picture of the buffalo are blurred and scratched. All the lathework is very bad.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 20.—S. W. Reese, a banker of Dodgeville, was found dead in bed through suffocation by gas in his room at the Avenue hotel. He was 70 years old.

FRED PFEFFER BREAKS AN ARM

Peculiar Accident to the Famous Second Bazeman Puts Him Out.

Racine, Wis., Oct. 20.—Fred Pfeffer, who for many years has been recognized as one of the leading ball players of the country, will probably never be able to play again. In the practice work before the Racine and Kenosha game Pfeffer, in attempting to throw the ball from second base to the home plate, broke his arm above the elbow and the bone protruded through the skin. He was taken to a hospital, where surgeons attended him. They fear the patient will be unable to play again. Pfeffer stated he had played ball for thirty years and had met with few injuries.

WEALTHY FARMER IS MISSING

Relatives of John Rosebro Believe He Is Held for a Ransom.

Sturgis, Mich., Oct. 20.—John Rosebro, aged 50 years, a wealthy farmer living near Buchanan has been missing since Oct. 13. On that day he appeared at the Buchanan bank and drew currency to the amount of $1,000 and also took a large amount of notes which he had left with the bank for safekeeping. He said he intended buying stock. All trace since then has been lost. Rosebro stands high in the community and his family think that he has been kidnapped and that a large sum of money will be asked for his release.

STORMS DAMAGE APPLE CROP

Blow Down Thousands of Bushels in Michigan Fruit Belt.

St. Joseph, Mich., Oct. 20.—It has been conservatively estimated that Berrien county will produce 400,000 bushels of apples this year, the largest crop in the history of this region. Reports received from various parts of the county show that thousands of bushels of apples and a portion of the pear crop have been blown from the trees by the high gales of the last week. It is estimated that 75,000 bushels have been blown down during the season, representing a loss to the growers of $30,000.

Degree for Professor Bell.
London, Oct. 20.—The degree of Doctor of Laws will be conferred on Professor Alexander Graham Bell of Washington, D. C., in addition to Ambassador White and Choate, Oct. 22, by St. Andrew's university, where Andrew Carnegie is to be installed as rector on that day.

FAMOUS BANDIT ENDS HIS LIFE

DECLARES HE IS A SOCIALIST

Leaves Message in Which He Lauds Bryan and Declares Nebraskan Should Have Come Out for All the People—Did Not Fear God.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—Jim Younger, Quantrell raider, member of Jesse James' gang, who, with his brothers, Cole and Bob Younger, was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1877 for the Northfield, Minn., bank raid and the murder of Cashier Hayward, committed suicide in a room in the Reardon hotel in this city. He was insane.

The dead man was found with a revolver clutched in his right hand. He had used his left hand to steady the revolver when he held it to his temple. His clothes were neatly folded, and everything in the room showed he had made careful preparations to end his life.

His Last Message.

"Oct. 18.—Last night on earth. So goodby, lassie, for I still think of thee. A. U. G. Forgive me, for this is my only chance. I have done nothing wrong. But politics is all that Van Sant, Weller, and others of their stripe care for. Let the people judge. Treat me right and fair, reporters, for I am a square man. A socialist, and decidedly in favor of woman's rights."

"Bryan is the brightest man these United States has ever produced. His one mistake was in not coming out for all the people and absolute socialism. Come out, Bryan."

No Fear of God.
"There is no such thing as a personal God. God is universal and I know him well and am not afraid."

"I have pity for the pardoning board; they do not stop to consider their wives or to think of the man who knows how to love and appreciate a friend in truth. Good-by, sweet lassie."

The police found a package of letters that had passed between Younger and a woman with whom he is said to have been in love. The woman, who is prominently connected, is said to have reciprocated his affection, and it was reported at one time that they were to be married. Her relatives raised objections, and a further obstacle was the fact that it was pointed out that a paroled prisoner could not legally contract a marriage.

Lost in Love.
The couple determined to disregard the objections of relatives and an effort was made to overcome the other obstacle to their marriage by securing from the state board of pardons a full pardon and restoration to citizenship. This effort failed, and this, it is thought, had much to do with Younger's determination to end his life.

On July 10, 1901, Jim and Cole Younger were released from the state prison at Stillwater on parole. Bob died many years ago. After Jim's release from the penitentiary he was employed by a firm of tombstone cutters of this city, and with Cole, who was in the employ of the same firm, went through the state soliciting orders.

Thrown From Wagon.
On one of these trips Jim was thrown from his wagon and hurt his head badly, aggravating an old wound he had received in the civil war. He left the firm in a few months and was clerk of a cigar stand in one of the largest grocery stores of the city.

RUSSIAN SAILORS USE KITES

Unique Aerial Boats a Feature in Naval Maneuvers.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 20.—Russia's Black Sea fleet is now equipped with a large number of aerial boats, or "flying dragons," as the Russian sailors style them. They are powerful box kites, five being enough to raise a man so that he can inspect a wide expanse of water to reconnoitre hostile craft. When there is no wind, the speed of the ship raises them to a great height.

President Is Going South.
Jackson, Miss., Oct. 20.—A letter was received here stating positively that President Roosevelt has not abandoned his idea of coming to Mississippi this fall, and that he expects to be the guest of Governor Longino before Congress meets.

M. Hadamard Is Dead.
Paris, Oct. 20.—The death of M. Hadamard, Captain Dreyfus' father-in-law, almost immediately followed the removal of Major D'Orme-Scheville, who acted as prosecutor at the first court-martial which condemned Dreyfus.

Summer House Burns.
Wellshurg, W. Va., Oct. 20.—Fire partially destroyed the palatial summer home of J. B. Vandergrift, a prominent Pittsburgher, entailing a loss of about $100,000.

Women May Vote.
Madison, Wis., Oct. 20.—Attorney General E. K. Hicks has rendered an opinion to the effect that women are eligible to vote on the constitutional amendment relating to the extension of the term of the state superintendent of schools.

MINES OPERATE DAY AND NIGHT

Unprecedented Rush in Clinton County Coal Region.

Carlyle, Ill., Oct. 20.—There is an unprecedented rush in the coal mines of Clinton county. A number of the mines are being operated day and night in order to keep even with the orders in their books. The employees in the two mines in Illinois drew nearly $30,000 in one month. There are 410 men employed. During the past month over $65,000 has been paid out at the different mines in the county; therefore all miners are enjoying a genuine article of prosperity, and it is the same way over the entire Sixth district, which is composed of the counties of St. Clair, Madison, Marion, Clinton and Bond. The total production shows an increase of 553,189 tons. Madison leads, Clinton is second, and St. Clair third in increase.

STRAUK IN CROWDED STREET

Springfield Man Fatally Hurt, but No One Sees Blow Given.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 20.—John Stanley, aged 46, is dying in a local hospital from a blow delivered mysteriously at a place where many people were walking. No one, however, saw the blow struck. Two young men who were seen quarrelling with Stanley are held at the police station without bond. They are George Robinson and John Wessling.

Persons who heard part of the quarrel think from what was said that the young men in passing Stanley pulled his hat down over his eyes and that he resented the insult and received the blow that resulted in a fractured skull.

MONEY TO RESTOCK THE FARMS

British Government Will Loan $2,500,000 at 4 1/2 Per Cent.

Pretoria, Oct. 20.—Sir Arthur Lawley, Lieutenant Governor of the Transvaal colony, replying to a deputation of farmers who had waited upon him, announced that the government had decided to loan on first mortgages on land a sum not exceeding $2,500,000 at 4 1/2 per cent, for the exclusive purpose of restocking the farms.

Decrease in French Vintage.

Paris, Oct. 20.—The French vintage this year will be nearly 500,000,000 gallons less than 1901, and 700,000,000 less than in 1900. The champagne vintage is particularly bad, hardly any champagne worthy of the name being produced.

Ends Family Troubles.

Belvidere, Ill., Oct. 20.—Oscar R. Beers, a needle expert and the brother of Philo M. Beers, the wealthy Bridgeport (Conn.) needle manufacturer, shot himself. Domestic troubles are said to have been the cause.

Plum for Cullom's Nephew.

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 20.—Shelby M. Cullom, nephew of Senator Cullom of Illinois, has received the appointment of clerk of the supreme court of Arizona. The senator was not interested in the appointment.

Strike Movement in Portugal.

Lisbon, Oct. 20.—The movement in favor of a general strike is gaining strength throughout northern Portugal.

Heart Disease

retards the circulation, weakens the stomach, deranges digestion, pollutes the blood, destroys the nervous force and saps the vitality of the whole system. It causes pains in the side, palpitation, shortness of breath, smothering, dropsical swellings, sinking spells, and frequently ends all suffering in sudden death. Why tempt death when a cure is within easy reach?

"My head would get so hot it seemed to be burning up, while my feet were like ice. My limbs would swell and get numb. I had to sit in a chair day and night for months and my heart throbbed and pained me terribly. After using three bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I could do a good day's work."

THE COAL STRIKE

The country will breathe easier, now that the coal strike is settled, and it is safe to assume that in the final adjustment, that the ends of justice will be served to both operators and miners. It will be well for both, and well for the country, if, in the final adjustment, some plan can be adopted that will prevent a recurrence of the trouble.

Capital and labor have suffered for months, but the inconvenience and loss to the consumer has but just commenced. It is not reasonable to suppose that normal conditions in supply and price can be secured this winter, and while the loss resulting is distributed over a large portion of the country, it is none the less burdensome. The family that pays from $12 to $15 for coal worth half the money, is a victim to the strike and the grievance is tangible.

The state of Pennsylvania should learn more important lessons from the strike, and some radical changes should be made in the laws of the state. If the law governing coal railroads is a dead letter, as it appears to be, it should be repealed and some statute put in its place that can be enforced. The Divine right of monarchs may be recognized by serfs, but the Divine right of coal barons to shut off nature's supply of coal, simply because they have the power to do it, is a species of piffling liberty that will not long be tolerated by the American public.

The law that requires a man to work two years in a mine, before he can secure a license is also a vicious law. It was passed in the interests of organized labor, and under its protection, 150,000 men have been able to defy the nation. The places of these men could have been filled half a dozen times by men who were willing and anxious to work, but the state said by law, "You have no license, therefore you can't work."

The principles of monopoly that combines against public welfare, is a common principle, and whether adopted by either capital or labor, is alike pernicious. The man who labors should have a right to sell his labor in any market, and his life and property should be protected.

If the nation has reached a period in history where one and a half millions of organized laboring men can dictate to the great army of unorganized labor, as to who shall be permitted to work, and the number of hours that constitute a day, then all labor should organize under special charter, so that organizations can be held responsible for violation of contract, and for other misdemeanors.

The coal strike has emphasized the fact, that there are two sides to all questions, and it is safe to say that both sides will be considered by the president's commission.

IN A NUT SHELL

Abraham Lincoln was sound on all questions of public policy, and he was eminently sound on the tariff question. After saying modestly, that he did not pretend to be learned in political economy, he thought that he knew enough to know that "when an American paid twenty dollars for steel to an English manufacturer, America had the steel and England had the twenty dollars. But when he paid twenty dollars for the steel to an American manufacturer, America had both the steel and the twenty dollars."

That sentiment, so tersely stated, expresses the defense of the tariff argument in a nut shell.

Abraham Lincoln was intensely American. He believed in the principles of the republican party because they were in accord with the best interests of the people. While he lived at a time when the nation was rent with an internal strife, and his time was fully occupied with questions of vital interest to the of the republic, yet his rare common sense found expression as occasion demanded on questions of finance and industrial development.

He knew that in the years of peace to come, that it would be better for the country to produce the steel, and all other commodities possible, receiving the benefit of American labor employed, as well as the price of the product, than to have our mills and labor idle, and spend our money abroad.

The democrat party was not in sympathy with Mr. Lincoln's policy on economic questions in the sixties, and it is not in harmony with the principles today. The party has harped on the old refrain so long, "The tariff is a tax," that many of the disciples to the democratic faith believe it.

The word "tax," haunts them like a nightmare and while a multitude of them are tax collection proof, yet they would rather sit in the shade of a silent factory, as many of them did a few years ago, and watch foreign ships come in, laden with the product of foreign labor, than to have employment at good wages.

Free trade democracy has never changed its brand. It is popular with a mass of people, because it has above it an air of freedom, similar to free silver. Many people were led to believe that with the free and unlimited coinage of silver, that everybody would be supplied with money, and life would be a round of holidays.

These same people are impressed with the notion, that free trade would be a panacea for all the ills of life, when the only thing many of them have to sell is their labor. An ordinary brain should be able to discover that foreign competition in the labor market has always been disastrous to American labor.

The democratic party is demoralized today, because it is not capable of self-government. This fact was evidenced in the Chicago convention when Bryan was nominated, and it was emphasized four years later at Kansas City. The party succeeded in demonstrating to the country that it was totally incompetent to conduct the affairs of national government, and it is less competent today, than it was eight years ago. There is no disposition to give the party another trial.

THE CROPS

The last government report on the condition of the crops makes it certain that, as a whole, they will be the most bountiful in the history of the country. The crops have been more evenly produced this year than at any other time since a record has been kept by the government.

In other years there was either a bumper wheat crop and almost a total failure of corn, or vice versa. The official estimates now are: Wheat, 652,590,000 bushels, as against 718,460,218 bushels in 1901; corn, 2,561,490,000 bushels, as against 1,622,519,891 bushels in 1901; barley, 120,900,850 bushels as against 109,932,323 bushels in 1901; oats, 759,526,724 bushels, as against 736,808,724 bushels in 1901; and rye, 30,359,800 bushels, as against 30,844,830 bushels in 1901.

There may be a small decrease in the buckwheat crop; but potatoes, which were much below an average crop last year, may exceed 50,000,000 bushels this year. The apple crop will be above the average of several years, and is estimated at 40,000,000 barrels. The hay crop will be somewhat above the average of the last eight years.—The Protectionist.

The first meeting of the Twilight club was not largely attended, many members being out of the city, while others were doubtless kept away by the prospect of increased membership expense. The action taken by the club in accepting the invitation of the Y. M. C. A. removes the objection so far as expense is concerned, and should also tend to increase the membership, which has heretofore been limited on account of room. The next meeting should have a full attendance.

Postmaster General Henry C. Payne is reported as saying that Senators Spooner and Quarles will save to the republican state ticket from 15000 to 20000 votes. If this is true the ticket will be elected by a rousing majority. He admits that the Madison convention made a "tactical" blunder. That is putting it extremely mild. If Mr. Payne had been present he would have found himself read out of the party.

In making a summary of the questions discussed at the Twilight club last Friday night, Marshall P. Richardson stated some terse truths that are not always recognized. Among them that government, whether national, state or municipal, is as good as the constituency and as good as people elect to have them. This fact is frequently overlooked by people who shirk responsibility and devote their time to kicking.

Senator Quarles refused to be drawn into a discussion of state issues at Stevens Point. The senator is wise. State issues have been discussed for the last two years until the question is threadbare, and the end is not yet.

Senator Spooner has no theories to exploit, or no hobbies to ride. He belongs to the class of loyal old time republicans whose conservative judgment has contributed stability to the party. The state will honor itself by keeping him in the senate.

The state of Iowa is progressive in many ways. The last census reveals the fact that at Boone, a family by the name of Weir has 22 children. Eleven boys, and the same number of girls, all twins.

The coal operators propose to protect the 3500 non-union engineers who have saved their miners from over flowing during the strike.

President Roosevelt is just as strenuous in handling a coal strike as in anything else that he undertakes.

PRESS COMMENT.

Detroit Free Press: The sultan of Bacolod is becoming as impertinent as a coal operator.

New York Herald: Kentucky has refused to allow a negro mob lynch a white man. It is at least a good beginning.

Minneapolis Times: Senator Spooner seems to be a little more of an issue in Wisconsin than the trusts or the tariff.

Detroit Journal: It would be pretty hard to find a jury to try the coal operators, if it had to be composed of men who had not expressed their opinions.

Kansas City Journal: It is just possible that the arrangements made for importing Welsh coal had something to do with the decision of the operators to arbitrate.

Detroit Tribune: England is amazed at the good sense displayed in the settlement of the coal strike. England is long on amazement for everything American.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Venezuela elects her presidents for a term of six years. As a rule, however, the revolutionists generally commute the sentence to six months.

Washington Post: A Chicago man has been arrested for beating his wife with a coal shovel. It seems that even coal shovels will get in to mischief when they are idle.

Washington Star: Wooden sidewalks have been stolen for fuel in Chicago. There will be reason to remember a coal famine with a trace of kindness if it assists the town to get rid of the wooden sidewalks.

Boston Herald: It seems to be an extradition offense in France, too, for American jockeys, to ride most of the winners on the French turf. They should ride slower if they want to be popular abroad.

Cleveland Leader: Senator Spooner says the refusal of the organized operators to treat with the organized miners put the former upon the pinnacle of impudence. There doesn't seem to be much disagreement on that question.

Detroit Free Press: Governor O'Connell tersely disposed of all the mercenary interests in the coal strike situation when he declared that "The rights of the people are paramount." These are the principles of a democratic government in a nutshell.

Kansas City Star: Mr. Cleveland speaks in praise of President Roosevelt's efforts to bring about a settlement of the Pennsylvania coal strike. It is natural for a man to commend another the line of conduct which he would follow himself in the same circumstances.

Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin: The hunters who have been killed accidentally in Price county, while shooting deer, could have done fully as well if they had waited until the legal season, while hunters galore are shooting the air in the deer woods full of holes.

Indianapolis Journal: More effective than campaign speaking are the hundreds of earnest republicans—high privates in the ranks—who put forth quiet but persistent efforts to bring out a full vote. Are these republicans at work this year?

Milwaukee Sentinel: Talking to the Harvard freshmen the other day President Eliot laid down the maxim: "There is one rule to bear in mind whether in company or alone—don't think about yourself." But isn't President Eliot requiring too much of the boys?

St. Paul Press: The excellent suggestion has been made that until there is an attractive enough for all the preference should be given to householders, not only because it is a greater hardship for them to burn soft coal, but because the chimneys of residences are not so carefully constructed as those of the large plants are not watched so closely and are in most danger of choking and dangerous fires.

SHOT HIMSELF WHILE HUNTING

EDMUND EHRLINGER HAS A SERIOUS ACCIDENT

ON LAKE KOSHKONONG SUNDAY

While hunting on Lake Koshkonong, Sunday, Edmund Ehrlinger, of this city, was accidentally shot in the left shoulder and his condition is exceedingly serious but probably not fatal. The bones of the shoulder, clavical and collar bone were badly shattered and the ligaments and muscles torn away but the physicians express the belief that it will be possible to save his arm.

Young Ehrlinger, who is the sixteen year old son of Mrs. Anna Ehrlinger, was hunting with his brother Lewis, at Lake Koshkonong and was in a boat when the accident occurred. Lewis had been rowing and the two young men changed seats in order that Edmund might take a turn at the oars. They had their guns in their hands as they made one change and although they had used the greatest caution with the guns all day, in some manner which neither of the young men can explain, the hammers of Edmund's gun caught on the seat, discharging both barrels. The shot struck him directly in the shoulder and being at such close range, the resultant injuries were very severe.

Brother Acts Promptly
After the accident, the horrified brother of the injured young man made him as comfortable as possible in the boat and rowed over a mile to the old Taylor house. By the time he reached the shore, the wounded boy was so exhausted by the intense pain which he was suffering that his brother had to almost carry him up the bank and he had great difficulty in reaching his destination. Fortunately there was no severe hemorrhage, the flow of blood from the wounds being comparatively slight.

Taken to Edgerton.
Landlord Blevens immediately ordered a carriage and took young Ehrlinger to Edgerton where he could have prompt surgical attention. Dr. Willard McChesney and Dr. Martin, of Edgerton, were called and Dr. W. H. Palmer was hastily summoned from this city. It took about five hours to dress the wound and the patient was in such a weakened condition that it was decided not to bring him home until he should regain his strength sufficiently to stand the journey without danger.

Mother is Summoned
His brother came to this city with the sad news and returned to Edgerton last evening, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Anna Ehrlinger. Young Ehrlinger is a printer by trade and employed as a compositor in the job office of the Gazette Printing company. He has a large circle of friends who will sincerely regret the accident which has befallen him and who will sympathize with him in his suffering.

DEATH CALL CAME TO MRS. M. L. CHENEY

Pioneer Resident of Rock County Passed Away While Visiting Relatives at Endeavor.

Mrs. Martha L. Cheney, one of God's gracious noblewomen, has passed onward into the eternal life beyond the grave, the final summons having come to her Saturday afternoon at 12:45 o'clock at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mary Cheney, at Endeavor, Wis., where she had been visiting since the 25th of August. Mrs. Cheney had been a sufferer from heart trouble for many years and dropsy of the heart was the cause of her death. She was taken sick one week after she went to Endeavor.

Martha Lea Fowle was born in Le Roy, N. Y., May 29, 1821, and was therefore in the eighty second year of her life when she passed away. Her mother died when she was only ten days old and she was brought up in the home of an older sister. On May 10, 1838 she was united in marriage to Russell Cheney and two years later they, with their infant son, Loren, came west, driving overland in covered wagons. They settled in Racine county, but in 1843 they moved to the open prairie of Rock county, selected a farm near Emerald Grove and resided there until Mr. Cheney's death in 1891. Since that time Mrs. Cheney has made her home in this city near her daughter, Mrs. E. W. Lowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Cheney were known throughout the state as well as in the county because of their singing of gospel songs. They sang beautifully together and assisted in many evangelistic services during their fifty-three years of ideal wedded life. They were among the first members of the Congregational church of Emerald Grove and since her residence in this city she has been a devout member of the Janesville Congregational church.

Mrs. Cheney's Christianity was always bright and cheerful and her entire life was like a ray of sunshine. Even in her suffering she was patient and happy and she retained her bright disposition together with her mental faculties until the end came. Her life was one of loving service to others and her death will be deeply mourned by a large circle of friends. Of the five children born to Mrs. Cheney, only one daughter, Mrs. E. W. Lowell, remains to mourn the loss of a mother's love. Mrs. Lowell went to Endeavor last week and she and Mrs. Mary Cheney returned to Janesville with the remains this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Funeral services will be held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Low-

WAS ASSAULTED BY HOLD-UP MEN

J. W. TERWILLIGER ATTACKED AND KNOCKED SENSELESS

TWO MEN DEMANDED MONEY

In the Struggle Which Followed, Terwilliger Was Slashed with a Knife.

As J. W. Terwilliger, a First ward resident was walking along the C. & N. W. tracks yesterday afternoon, near the Evansville cut-off, he was met by two men who demanded his money. He refused to obey and was immediately assaulted. In the battle that ensued Terwilliger received a severe cut on the arm, and was knocked on the back of the head.

Cut By Knife
Fortunately Mr. Terwilliger, who is a section foreman, had left all of his money at home before he started out, and so the hold-up men secured nothing. The cut on his arm, he believes, he received from a knife in the hands of one of the men. Three stitches were required to close the wound.

Well Dressed
The victim of the highwaymen believes that he would recognize the men if he saw them again. They were fairly well dressed, and one of them had a mustache while the other was smooth faced. He does not know in which direction they went, as he was left lying unconscious, after they had rifled his clothes and found nothing.

Not Seriously Wounded
After the scuffle, which took place on the railway track between four and five o'clock in the afternoon, he was carried off the embankment, and lay there for some time before he gained consciousness. His injuries are not serious.

George D. Simpson
TO OPEN NEW STORE

Young Business Man Has Retired from the Firm of Archie Reid & Co.

George D. Simpson left this morning for New York City where he will purchase a complete stock of dry goods preparatory to opening up a modern up to date store in this city. Mr. Simpson has severed his connection with Archie Reid with whom he has been associated as clerk and partner for the past twenty years and will enter into business by himself in the South Main street store which is soon to be vacated by R. J. Whitton.

Mr. Simpson is one of the best informed dry goods merchants in the city. He has grown up in the business and knows it thoroughly. Although a young man, he long ago, by his own personal worth, his integrity, his ambition and his exceptional business qualifications, took his place among the leading business men of the city. He is also public spirited, having the city's interests at heart, and such a man is sure to find a full measure of success awaiting him. Mr. Simpson expects to open his store in the near future and he will carry a full line of the best ready made garments on the market, as well as a complete stock of staple and fancy dry goods. In his new venture he will have the best wishes of his host of friends in this city and throughout the county. His popularity and his business ability assure him a liberal patronage.

Press Comment.
Chicago Record-Herald: Owing to the high price of coal and the lack of sparkling facilities Captain Hobson has not become engaged to any more prominent society girls during the last five or six weeks.

Detroit Free Press: On Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays the foreign correspondents have the British ministry tottering. On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays the French ministry is tottering. On Sundays the situation in Austro-Hungary is becoming critical.

Cleveland Plaindealer: The crown prince of Siam was greatly pleased with the appearance of Uncle Sam's cavalry. Perhaps this is not to be wondered at, when we consider that he must be surfeited with elephants and that there is no comparison whatever to be made between a troop of clumsy pachyderms and a squadron of prancing cavalry steeds.

Chicago Chronicle: Young Mr. Leeds who deserted college to go down to Panama and slay Colombian insurgents, has been captured and brought back by his uncle, he can, however, find full scope for his sanguinary inclinations by participating in the bazing festivities in full swing at most of our educational institutions.

Minneapolis Tribune: While the newspapers were commending Dr. Lorenz, the Austrian expert, for healing the afflicted children of poor parents who were unable to pay large fees for operations the Illinois board of health was after him with a summons for practicing without a license. Is this entirely hospitable on the part of Chicago? It is said that there was no objection to his coming to the city to operate on the Armour child, but it seems that there is objection to his remaining in the city to operate on to do good. Was this move prompted by professional jealousy?

St. Paul Dispatch: Senator Spooner spoke last night to Wisconsin republicans in Milwaukee upon national questions, the trusts and tariff and their relations among them. He represented the charge that there is any connection between the coal trust and republican politics. But he did not say that there is no tariff on anthraxite. Knowledge has been acquired since the president said at Cincinnati that anthracite was on the free list; he said it in entire honesty, believing as everyone—that is, almost everyone—did, that what he said was true. The senator has acquired the information elicited by the president's statement. But republicans will wonder how tariffs are made, and by whom, when they read the senator's surprising admission that "a small duty on anthracite found its way somehow—I have yet to find the man who knows how—into the Dingley law." Who would know if not a senator? And if a senator did not know is a president to be censured for not knowing?

WILL SURELY BE IN JANESVILLE

SENATOR SPOONER WILL SPEAK HERE TOMORROW NIGHT.

IT SPITE OF HIS HOARSENESS

Plans Are All Complete For His Reception—Immense Crowd Will Welcome Him,

Word has been received from Madison that Senator John C. Spooner will not give up his tour of the state but will speak as long as he is able. He is to talk in Lancaster tonight and early tomorrow will arrive in Janesville and will speak at the Myers Grand tomorrow evening. This fact County Chairman of the Republican Committee T. S. Nolan is sure of.

The Guest Of Hon. Fathers
Senator Spooner will be the guest of the Hon. Ogden Fethers while in the city. From seven until eight tomorrow evening he will hold an informal reception at the Myers House where his friends will come to greet him. He will be escorted from the Fethers residence by the Christ Church cadets to the Myers House at seven o'clock. At eight he will go to the Opera House where he will begin his speech promptly on the hour so that he may die through by ten.

Special Trains
Chairman Nolan has made arrangements for special trains returning to Edgerton, Milton and all points in the county that are not otherwise reached by trains leaving the city after the speech is over. Many farmers will also drive in and the meeting promises to be the largest ever held in Janesville, if present indications can be relied upon.

Spooner's Pluck
The pluck of Senator Spooner in continuing his trip in the face of a bad hoarseness is creating much comment throughout the city this morning and it is adding to his popularity.

Loudon-Sheafear
Janesville people will be surprised by the announcement that Miss Mamie Loudon and Charles Sheafear, both well-known young people of this city, were married secretly in Sycamore, Ill., on the 18th day of last Nov.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Loudon, was at that time a student in the High school, having graduated only last June. The groom is in the employ of Hanley Bros., commission merchants. The young people have guarded their secret carefully but have finally decided to make public the announcement of their marriage. Their friends will extend congratulations and wish them joy and prosperity.

PRIZE LODGE WILL CELEBRATE SOON

Banner Won by Olive Branch Lodge, No. 38 A. O. U. W. to Be Presented Friday Evening.

Ever since Olive Branch Lodge No. 38, A. O. U. W., was awarded an state banner, having won it by securing the largest membership of any lodge in Wisconsin, it has been the intention of the members to celebrate the event in an appropriate manner. This celebration will be held next Friday evening at East Side Odd Fellows' hall will be enjoyed by members of the A. O. U. W. lodge and its auxiliary, Laurel Lodge, No. 2 Degree of Honor, together with their families.

Many prominent workmen from other parts of the state will be present to assist in making the occasion a happy one. W. W. Walker, of Milwaukee, past supreme master workman, E. M. Givens, of Fond du Lac, grand recorder, and C. W. Page, recorder of Baraboo lodge, will be among the guests and delegations are expected from Beloit and other surrounding cities.

Double Celebration
The celebration will have a double significance, being held in honor of the thirty-fourth anniversary of the institution of the order as well as of the winning of the prize. The regular secret session of the lodge will be held at 7:30 o'clock and will be brief, being followed by an open meeting at which the Degree of Honor and the families of both lodges will be present.

Banner Presented
An interesting program has been provided for this meeting, the central feature of which will be the presentation of the banner. This banner, which is awarded semi-annually, was held the first six months of the year by North Star Lodge, No. 112, of West Superior. This lodge made a vigorous effort to retain it but the Janesville lodge captured it with 341 members, being now the prize lodge of the state.

Cards and Supper
The formal programme of the evening will be followed by a card party at which prizes will be awarded. Supper will also be served. Arrangements for the evening are in the hands of the following committee: E. P. Schumacher, Michael Daly and George Robinson. This committee will be assisted by a committee from the Degree of Honor: Mesdames E. F. Schumacher, M. J. Conroy and E. Kelnow.

Strabismus, Imbecility and Rheumatism

Case No. 1.—Mrs. R. called us to see her child, 18 months old. It had never nursed nor showed any signs of intelligence and had to be fed with a tube, and was to all appearances an imbecile. It could not hold up its head and had convergent strabismus (cross eyes). On examination I found atlas backward and to one side caused by contraction of forces in childbirth. I replaced atlas and treated the child four months with the result that it is now a normal healthy child.

Case No. 2.—Mr. M., Peru, Ill., had not been able to walk or use his arms for many years from rheumatism. After two months' treatment he can walk and use his arms as well as ever. His trouble was due to faulty metabolism in his liver. By Dr. C. O. Hook, La Salle, Ill.

New Woman Gleanings

THE saddest, most tragic of enable messages was flashed under the sea across from Europe to American newspapers recently. It was that the magnificent Sarah Bernhardt is so appalled at the thought of growing old that her friends thought her lest she attempt suicide. The thought that she must age, grow inactive physically, become shrunken and hideous looking, no longer able to enjoy the histrionic triumphs beyond compare that have been hers for a generation, never came to her before. Now it has overwhelmed her, and who can blame her? Last year, when she was here in America, she said of herself, "I look young because I am young." And she did look young. Is it possible that now she has suddenly lost her grip and given up to old age? If so, then this great woman will grow old rapidly. A determined keeping young in the mind and active in the body will stave off decay certainly twenty years. Old age! It is the most awful fact of human existence, the one fact to which mankind cannot reconcile itself and never has done so. But must it? Does not this instinctive horror itself show that decrepitude and senility are not absolutely necessary? There is not a seeming evil pertaining to human existence that cannot be remedied. I believe the time is coming when the race will know how to keep their bodies strong and slightly, their mental powers undimmed, so long as they live. Mankind has already solved harder problems than that. Scientists seem today very near the secret of life and its renewal. Does not this hint of a time when they will be able to replace, cell by cell, old bones and muscles with new ones and to dilate the shrunken arteries of age with the fiery, rich, red blood of youth? I believe it does. Meantime keep young in dress, in expression and in physical activity. Don't be shoved into your grave before you are dead.

Your body is an animal over which you have or ought to have control. When the weather is a little chilly and you say you are just frozen to death, your body acts automatically and sympathetically on that statement. Next time the temperature is a little chilly your body recalls what you said before and begins to shiver as though it were desperately cold. Again, when you say you are roasted to death your body thinks you mean it and does its best to live up to your declaration. Consequently when again the day is rather unusually warm the body will think itself uncomfortably hot and vex you accordingly. Now, the fact is you were not anywhere near being either frozen or roasted, but your statement has its effect on your body. If you must say anything concerning your physical sensations, which is doubtful, just temperately tell the truth and let it go.

The federated women's clubs of Texas have obtained a legislative appropriation for the establishment of a girls' industrial school. This is more than the women of New York have been able to get.

The surveyor's office at Salt Lake has a woman map draftsman, Miss Mary Wrightman, who receives $1,200 a year.

The women who manage the benevolent organization known as the Ladies of the Macabees of the World are very capable in business transactions. The society was started ten years ago and since then has disbursed $2,000,000 in benefits. The headquarters are at Port Huron, Mich. The organization publishes a monthly magazine. Two of its officers, Mrs. Lillian Hollister, supreme commander, and Miss Nina M. West, supreme recorder and editor of the monthly, receive each a salary of $4,500.

THE PRESERVING KETTLE.

Peaches in Their Own Juice or a Rich Syrup—Plum Jam.

Peaches Preserved in Their Own Juice.—Wash the fruit thoroughly before it is pared, then put the parings in a porcelain kettle, adding a quart and a half of water to every four pounds of parings. Set on the fire and allow it to cook to a mush; meanwhile have the fruit steamed till tender. Put the fruit in hot jars and cover. Strain the juice from the fruit parings in a jelly bag and boil it up with one pint of sugar to one quart of juice. Pour it boiling over the peaches and seal. If one desires a little sharper flavor than is afforded by the fruit alone, add one lemon, rind and juice, to one quart of the peach juice. If preferred, a small bit of green ginger root may be used instead of the lemon.

Whole Peaches in a Rich Syrup.—Pare the peaches carefully and put equal weights of fruit and sugar in layers in a deep porcelain kettle. Add one pint of water to four pounds of the fruit. Let it cook slowly until the peaches are tender, then lift them carefully on a slitted wooden spoon and lay on platters. Set in the sun, covering with a wire netting to keep off flies. Boil the syrup till thick and clear, then put in the peaches again and cook for a minute or two. Put into cans and seal. If you wish a delicious flavor, add a dozen blanched peach kernels before cooking the fruit.

Plum or Apricot Jam.—Choose the perfect fruit for jam and break the skins slightly before putting over the fire. It needs no water, and the sugar is not to be added until it grows pulpy. Lift out the pits, smash with a hammer and add the kernels to the jam. To each pound of pulp add one pound of sugar and simmer gently for an hour, when it should be ready to put in tumblers.—Good Housekeeping.

SMART COATS.

sketched can be found. It is one of the new, full sacks of smartest build, the back of which a special sketch is given, showing an absolutely new departure in cut. The fronts are very slightly double breasted, so that the coat can be equally well worn open or closed, and the neck is finished by stitched strappings, the upper one being of silk or velvet. The bell shaped sleeve with turnback cuff is the finishing point.

Delicious Tea Cakes.

Beat to a cream two cupsful of sugar, a cupful of butter and an egg, add a cupful of milk and stir it well through the other ingredients; grate in a little nutmeg. Sift into a bowl three cupsful of flour, or a little more if necessary to make the dough stiff enough to roll out, with two heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder; then add the flour to the other mixture, a little at a time, stirring briskly to keep the flour from lumping. When the flour is all in, if the dough is stiff enough to roll out dust the pastry board well with flour, turn the dough out of the bowl and roll it out very thin. Cut out in little shapes with a cutter, lay them on well greased baking tins and bake in a quick oven. While the cakes are hot sprinkle the top of them with sugar.

The Way to Boil Water For Tea.

No less authority than Tung Po, the Chinese poet, is quoted for a recipe for kamaking. He says: "Whenever tea is to be infused take water from a running stream and boil it over a lively fire. It is an old custom to use running water, boiled over a lively fire. That from springs in the hills is said to be best, and river water the next, while well water is the worst. A lively fire is a clear, bright charcoal fire. While making an infusion do not boil the water too hastily. At first it begins to sparkle like crabs' eyes, then somewhat like fishes' eyes, and lastly it boils up like pearls innumerable, springing and waving about. This is the way to boil water."

A Neat Little Supper Dish.

Sardines broiled in a chafing dish are nice for Sunday night suppers. Use just enough of the oil in the box to cover the bottom of the dish and keep the fish from sticking. When they are browned on both sides, sprinkle liberally with lemon juice and serve hot.

THE SWORD OF DAMOCLES

(Original.)

"Professor," said the emperor, "it is a misfortune to our royal self as well as to you that you are implicated in this conspiracy."

"I am innocent, your majesty."

"But your accuser says that you are guilty."

"That is because he would be benefited by my death."

The emperor frowned. He was turning the matter over in his mind. Presently he spoke again:

"Gentlemen, no university in the world holds two such eminent mathematicians. You, Schenglar, accuse Guenther of conspiracy against our royal person. You, Guenther, accuse Schenglar of bearing false witness in order to get you out of his way, a crime scarcely less atrocious than treason. What proof have you of your charge?"

"None that I can bring forth without injury to another."

"Gentlemen," said the emperor, "we have the trial by combat, but it is not fitted for scholars. I shall institute a new test. Go to your rooms, which will be carefully locked and guarded. Calculate how fine a wire will be required to hold in suspense a sword weighted to a hundred pounds. When you have finished, hand your figures to the grand chamberlain, who will have the wires forged and the swords weighted. Then they will be suspended, one by a wire made on Schenglar's calculation and one on a wire made on Guenther's calculation. Each mathematician shall deliver a lecture an hour long under the sword held by his own calculation. If neither sword falls, the man who stands under the finer wire shall be believed; the other shall die."

The emperor motioned to the captain of the guards, and the prisoners were taken away.

The professors handed in their calculations—Guenther within a week, Schenglar within a month. Then months were spent in making the wires, which were each run through a mathematical instrument to discover that it answered the calculation; and, lastly, the swords were made ready to be suspended, each by its proper wire, over a desk in the throne room of the emperor's palace. From the first, great interest was manifested throughout the empire in this advance method of trial. The people hailed the departure as a new evidence of the wisdom of their beloved sovereign.

It was on a bright spring morning that the emperor, the imperial family, the nobles, the faculty of the university, the generals of the army and other notables filled the throne room to overflowing. When the audience was seated, the emperor entered, followed by his son. In the suit of the empress was a maid of honor whose intense excitement showed plainly in her face and her demeanor. When the prisoners were led in, she was observed to cast upon Schenglar a look of hate, upon Guenther a look of intense solicitude. When all was ready, lots were drawn as to which professor should lecture first. The lot fell to Schenglar.

With the greatest care a sword was suspended over his desk, every effort being made that not the least extra strain should be put upon its wire during the process. When it was hung, the time was carefully noted, and Schenglar began to speak. During the lecture, especially the last few minutes, there was intense excitement in the audience, and the lecturer, as he finished, while the last sands ran from the glass, fell back exhausted. Then Guenther, after all had been arranged for him, stepped to his desk and delivered his discourse with as much confidence as if he were simply speaking in his classroom.

"Wonderful," said the audience, "what confidence that man has in his calculations!"

He, too, finished without the sword falling upon him, and the test now lay between the fineness of the two wires. Silence was imposed, and the chancellor of the empire, opening two packets containing the original computations in each case, read:

"The strength of the wire is represented by the following decimals of the unit of measure:

"Professor Schenglar, .05749.

"Professor Guenther, .05138.

"Professor Guenther's wire is the finer by more than six-thousandths of the unit of measure."

There was a momentary hush which was broken by a sound of one falling on the floor. A maid in the empress' suit had fainted. The emperor looked aside, and seeing what had occurred, said: "There lies the cause of the accusation. Is it not so, Professor Schenglar?"

"Now that I must die, I confess. I love the woman and would have destroyed my rival."

"Take him away," said the emperor.

Schenglar was led out of the throne room, the emperor and the audience remaining seated. Meanwhile the maid of honor had recovered and was endeavoring to restrain her blushes at having shown such extraordinary interest in the trial and the result.

"Professor Guenther," said the sovereign when the door had been closed upon the culprit, "what reparation can I make for having listened to an accusation against a loyal and distinguished subject?"

"Your majesty has done all that can be asked in so wisely making the test, but if you would do more give me the hand of the Lady Bertha, whose station with her majesty is so far above mine that I dared not avow my love for fear of injury to her."

When the emperor announced his consent, a shout shook the throne room.

WITH THE ATHLETES

Speed and quickness will be the two aims Coach Stagg will put before his men in their practice this week.

Another step toward the perfect bowling score of 300 was made in Chicago when Fred Mahoney rolled a score of 290.

Lack of team work is the only excuse that the Gophers offer for their defeat with Nebraska, 6 to 0 on Saturday.

Coach King announces that this week he will begin to get his men into the pink of condition, ready for championship contests.

Michigan was relieved of a considerable part of its over-confidence by the result of its game with Notre Dame on Saturday, and fears have been raised regarding their defense.

Although defeated in the game which it most desired to win, Northwestern university is not disheartened over the score in the game with Chicago, and coach Hollister told his men that their injuries influenced the result.

Pennsylvania university is this year the victim of too strict observance of purity in athletics. Many men who were disqualified at with the Quakers, are now playing with other schools, and this year's prospects at Philadelphia are the saddest possible.

George Woodruff, referee of the Wisconsin-Beloit game said that judging by the Chicago-Cornell (Iowa) game, Wisconsin is infinitely superior to the Midway school, but that making comparison from the Chicago-Purdue contest, the two eleven stand about even.

The necessity of a clearer knowledge of the rules was shown by Beloit's failure to tackle Wisconsin's runner on a return punt from Call and when the man with the ball was allowed to make nearly half the length of the field before any one attempted to stop him.

Once the coils are drawn tight there is little chance of escape. The one hope of safety is to break loose at the beginning of the attack.

Those who are showing symptoms of lung disease should instantly begin the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It will cure obstinate coughs, bronchitis and bleeding of the lungs. It increases the nutrition of the body, and so restores the emaciated form to health and strength.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

"I feel it my duty to give my testimonial in behalf of your great medicine," writes Mr. John T. Reed, of Jefferson, Jefferson Co., Ark. "When I commenced taking Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I was very low with a cough, and would at times spit blood. I was not able to do any work at all, was weak and my head was dizzy. The first bottle I took did me so much good that I had faith in it and continued until I had taken twelve bottles. Now I do not look like nor feel like the same man as I was a year ago. People were astonished and said they did not think that I could live. I can thankfully say that I am entirely cured of a disease from which had it not been for your wonderful 'Discovery' I would have died."

ELEVEN SLAIN IN ALABAMA RIOT

NEGROES OPEN FIRE ON POSSE

Officers Seeking Men Who Attacked a Woman Are Met With Death-Dealing Volley and Are Forced to Retire From Scene.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 20.—Three white men and eight negroes were killed in a race riot at Littleton, Ala. The riot was caused by a crowd of negroes attacking a white woman who was passing over a railroad bridge.

As soon as the white citizens of the town learned of the affair they began the search for the woman's assailants. The negroes refused to deliver up the guilty men and armed themselves to protect their leaders.

Fire on Posse.

When the posse arrived the negroes opened fire, killing three of the officers. The deputies returned the fire, killing eight negroes.

Owing to the large number of negroes the posse was forced to retreat. The negroes are reported to be in complete possession of the town and have entrenched themselves. The negroes have captured a powder magazine, the property of a coal company, and are strongly fortified.

CAPTURE SHOOTERS.

Party That Fired on Arkansas Sheriff Yields to Officers.

Vicksburg, Miss., Oct. 20.—A sheriff's posse, reinforced by a galling gun squad, effected the capture of W. G. Hull, his son, R. G. Hull, and his daughter, Mrs. Vaughn of Arkansas. They were aboard the shanty boat Hazel, also said to be a whisky boat, from which shots were fired on the sheriff, Frank Strong, and posse of Chicot county, Ark., resulting in the wounding of the sheriff and three of his men.

When the officers in a boat arrived at the point where the Hazel was anchored in the Yazoo river they were notified by a woman that if they were Mississippi officers the men in hiding would surrender on hearing three blasts of the whistle. The signal was given and the two Hulls put out from shore in a skiff.

The elder Hull made a statement that he had no idea he was firing on officers of the law. He says a squad of men, both white and black, appeared on shore and opened a fusillade without warning. His son was wounded in the arm, and believing his family in jeopardy he seized his rifle and returned the fire.

The men were brought to Vicksburg and immediately sent to Jackson for safety. Reports are current that a mob is on the way from Arkansas to lynch them.

The Hazel hails from Evansville, Ind., and is owned by Grigg Hull & Son. The effects of its battle with the Arkansas officers are shown by the numerous bullet holes in the deck and cabins.

French Labor Body Urges Unions to Consider Matter.

Paris, Oct. 20.—The General Confederation of Labor is considering the question of a strike of all the trades' unions of France in favor of eight hours per day and old age pensions, etc., as demanded by the striking miners. A manifesto to the various unions is said to have been drafted, pointing out that the moment is most favorable for such a movement, and asking them to deliberate the question. The miners' strike continues peacefully. The leaders declare that 160,000 men are out.

LIVING ON THE LAWN.

Outdoor Shelter—Grass Shacks and Bamboo Tepees—Siddaris.

Roof gardens and cozy corners are well enough for town, but spending one's days out of doors is this season's fad, although in some sections of the country Jupiter Pluvius has greatly interfered with the programme. All the accessories are to be had for a consideration, and the New York Herald tells what some of them are, as follows:

Many have already supplied themselves with grass shacks, or tepees, made of straw and bamboo, and this summer the most inviting vineclad summer house will have no attractions which can compete with the out of doors shelter. The tents, or shacks, are extremely light and therefore easy to move about on the lawn. One of the chief delights of this outdoor existence is that each day a change must be made in the location of the shelter.

An excellent lawn structure and one which is easily put up is that made of siddaris. First there is a square frame of bamboo laid upon four bamboo uprights, and across the top is fastened one of these oriental curtains. Each side is also covered with a siddari, and these are so arranged that one, two or all may be rolled quite to the top without much trouble.

Siddaris are made of very fine horizontal strips of bamboo woven together with grass, and, while they are sufficiently heavy to serve as a screen from the sun, they possess the great advantage of admitting air. They are so woven that one is practically in the open air without being made uncomfortable.

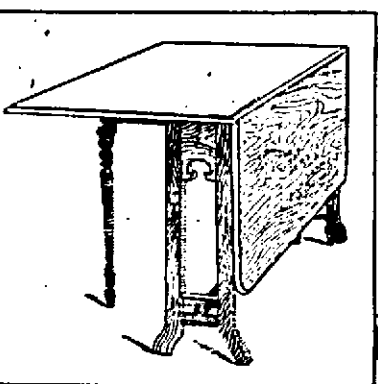

The grass tufted earth serves as a carpet, though some furniture must be brought out to give the shelter a habitable appearance. Blankets are necessary, for occasionally the ground is too damp to sit upon without some such protection. Pillows will also add to the general comfort, and a nap in the open air on one of these is the perfection of summer joys.

The Return of the Cradle.

The child is susceptible, absorbing both good and bad. Give him the opportunity, and he will find the means. Some one must care for him, and with wisdom. If you would have perfect contentment as well as discipline, return the cradle from the attic to the nursery. The theory of the injury to a child from rocking is without foundation. On the contrary, the results are positively beneficial. The nursery is destitute without the cradle. The future welfare of the child also is dependent upon it. There is talk of an increased nervousness among children of today. If they had the cradle to soothe their weary nerves, this might not be the case. The cradle can do no harm and may do a great deal of good. —Dr. Maurice Hunt.

Handy Table For Summer Use.

A CONVENIENT FOLDING TABLE. simple following of the eighteenth century gate leg table, its characteristic being its compact folding against the wall when not in actual service. A circular or oval top table is convenient in much the same way.

Sea Bathing Strenuous Exercise.

Dr. Grunnius, president of the Connecticut Medical society, is credited with the following:

"That salt water bathing is a panacea for all ills seems somehow to be the prevailing impression. People from the interior are particularly convinced of it and practice it very freely in their outings at shore and watering places.

"But from my personal observation I am convinced that sea bathing is overestimated as a benefit, or, rather, it is overdone.

"I am accustomed to saying that for the average child or adult the maximum of benefit is obtained by not more than one-half hour per week—five minutes every day or ten minutes on alternate days—and, further, if after thorough rubbing down there remains a feeling of lassitude, an inclination to lie down or the desire for a stimulant the time must be shortened to that point at which, after the bath, the bather exhibits a full reaction and a desire to resume his play or occupation immediately.

"It is true that many children can afford to stay in the water longer than the overset limits, but it is not unusual to observe children starting for home in the late summer or early autumn with rather hollow cheeks and apparently large eyes instead of the ruddy cheeks and generally robust appearance which they should have after their summer outing."

Orange Jelly.

One box of gelatin, one pint of orange juice, one pound of granulated sugar, three pints of hot water and the juice of one small lemon. Soak the gelatin for one hour in the orange and lemon juice, then add the sugar and hot water, put on the stove and let it boil for ten minutes. Remove from the fire and when it is nearly cool add the lemon juice and pour in a mold to cool.

PLENTY OF FUEL OIL FOUND IN WYOMING

Wells Producing Nearly 200 Barrels Per Day are Struck in one Week.

Evanston, Wyo., Oct. 20.—Drilling for oil for fuel purposes is solving the serious fuel question in the west. Two more strikes have been made at Spring Valley and it is reported a third was made near Fossil. One of the strikes was that of the Atlantic and Pacific Oil Company's well, carrying about fifty barrels. The other was a fifteen-barrel producer on section 24, belonging to the Jager Oil Company. Three strikes were made earlier in the week. Nearly 100 wells are now being drilled at points near Spring Valley and Fossil, both in Uintah county, and work upon them is being rushed so as to acquire producers to supply the demand for fuel oil, increasing because of a lack of coal. The aggregate of strikes the past week is very nearly 200 barrels.
